

presentation and reception

In partnership with The Simon Ortiz and Labriola Center Lecture on Indigenous Land, Culture, and Community

During her 35 years of experience in the field of federal Indian law, Locklear has represented tribes throughout the U.S. in federal and state courts on treaty claims to water and land, taxation disputes with states and local authorities, reservation boundary issues, and federal recognition of tribes.

2-4 p.m. / oct. 6

Faculty Center (Room 266), Armstrong Hall

arlinda locklear

Attorney, Washington, D.C.

For more information, contact Kate Rosier at 480-965-6204
Information on the Simon Ortiz and Labriola Center Lecture at <http://english.clas.asu.edu/indigenous>

INDIAN LEGAL PROGRAM

ASU SANDRA DAY O'CONNOR
COLLEGE of LAW
ARIZONA STATE UNIVERSITY